Frank Lukey – Biography

Frank has more than 20 years experience working in software development of information retrieval systems. He was one of the first few employees at SilverPlatter Information and played a key role in the development of SilverPlatter's successive generations of software solutions, including PC-SPIRS, MacSPIRS, WinSPIRS and the very successful ERL suite of software. When Ovid purchased SilverPlatter in 2001, Frank became the VP of Software Development for Ovid. In this role he has made a significant contribution to defining the technology strategy for Ovid and integrating multiple technology platforms. Prior to joining SilverPlatter Information, Frank worked for Logica, the international software consultancy, and also for British Gas, where he first started to work in the area of information retrieval. Frank holds a B.Sc. in Psychology and a Ph.D. in Artificial Intelligence.
